Former New Brockton High teacher arrested for alleged inappropriate communications with a student

A Coffee County Sheriff's Office investigation led last week to the arrest of a former Coffee County Schools' employee.

According to Coffee County Sheriff Scott Byrd, his office received a report of possible inappropriate communications between a teacher and a student under the age of 19 at New Brockton High School. Following an investigation by investigators with the sheriff's office, the sheriff said an arrest warrant was on Heartlee Pittman, age 25, of Troy, Ala., for one count of a school employee distributing or soliciting obscene material to or from a student. This charge is a Class A misdemeanor.

Heartlee Pittman

Pittman reportedly turned herself in Thursday, June 29, where she was officially charged and arrested. She was booked into the Coffee County Jail, and her bond was set at $1,500.

Jail records show that Pittman was released on bond less than an hour after her booking.

During a special called meeting Thursday, April 27, the Coffee County Board of Education accepted a resignation from Heartlee (Pittman) Sanders from her position as a teacher at New Brockton High School. Other than an executive session, that was the only matter considered by the board during that April 27th meeting.

ELBA THEATRE LIGHTS NEW MARQUEE IN FRONT OF LARGE CROWD...The Restoration 154 folks held a marquee lighting ceremony in conjunction with a ribbon cutting, sponsored by the Elba Chamber of Commerce, Thursday evening, June 29, for the new venue sign. Over 100 people attended the event. The new marquee for the venue is yet another step completed in the renovations of downtown theatre, which is utilized for various community events. Those attending the official lighting/ribbon cutting for the marquee sign also were treated to ice cream and popcorn. Restoration 154 leaders Justin Maddox and Laurie Chapman thanked their partners that helped make the evening possible before starting the countdown for the new sign. After the sign was lit, all in everyone gathered for the ribbon cutting photo opportunity [as captured above]. City and chamber leaders, along with the Elba Queens also participated in the ribbon cutting.

ADPH advises to take extra precautions in the heat

With heat indices in the triple digits such as those currently being experienced, the Alabama Department of Public Health advises the public to be alert to the warning signs of heat illnesses.

Heat-related illnesses occur when the body is exposed to high temperatures. The incidence of these illnesses rises expectedly during warm weather periods, and anyone exposed to high temperatures or extreme heat can experience symptoms when the body's temperature control system is overloaded. The most common heat-related illnesses are as follows:

- Heat cramps
- Heat exhaustion
- Heat stroke

Heat cramps - include muscle pains or spasms (abdomen, arms or legs), profuse sweat, and high salt concentration in the sweat.

Heat exhaustion - is associated with heavy sweating, paleness, muscle cramps, tiredness, weakness, dizziness, headache, nausea, or vomiting and fainting. Other possible symptoms may include cool and moist skin, fast and weak pulse rate, fast and shallow breathing, or irritability. Older adults, those with high blood pressure, and those working or exercising in a hot environment are prone to heat exhaustion. If heat exhaustion is not treated, it may progress to heatstroke.

Heat stroke or sun stroke - the most serious heat-related illness, a life-threatening problem, may occur when the body is unable to control its temperature. Body temperature may rise to 106 degrees F or higher within 10 -15 minutes. Signs include an extremely high body temperature, red, hot and dry or moist skin, rapid, strong pulse, throbbing headache, dizziness, nausea, dehydration, combativeness or confusion, and unconsciousness. Heat stroke is a medical emergency and even with immediate treatment, it can be life-threatening or cause serious long-term problems.

"In evaluating other countries, the acid test of a nation's liberty and system of government is determined by the gate test. This test was a simple observation of a nation's borders to see which side of the gate had a lock and armed guards. The test is pass-fail. If the country had guards to keep its citizens from getting out, then it fails the gate test, but a country that must guard to prevent people from getting in, passes." - former President Ronald Reagan

The hair on the back of our neck bristled Monday morning when reading a headline that read "Fourth of July: Young Americans are questioning whether they want to celebrate the holiday." Needless to say each of us can thank the dedication and foresight of our forefathers for establishing the greatest nation in history for us to enjoy. . . . and honor with this holiday.

July 9th is the faithful day that the U. S. Postal Service makes a bunch of changes, including another increase in postage rates. The Forever stamp (used on first class letters) will go from 63 cents to 66 cents. The last increase was in January of this year. There was also a rate increase in July 2020 and August of 2021. The reported reason for the increase is to compensate for inflation.

You probably see some long faces around those with outstanding student loan debts. The exciting news that President Biden was forgiving billions of dollars of student debt was shot down last week by the U. S. Supreme Court. However, the president quickly shot back with another idea to help those impacted by the Supreme Court decision. We don't have a clue how for this idea will go before becoming a reality or also getting shot down, but it gives those with student loans another reason to have hope.

The United Methodist Church is in an uproar with many local churches opting to withdraw from the worldwide conference. The Elba church is right in the middle of this debate but no local decision has been officially announced (nor made). We don't mind people asking us 'what is going on' and always make an effort to explain the facts but alas those facts seem to be changing on a regular basis either actually or in the rumor mills. So be patient with us.

It is awfully hot in South Alabama these days, but before we start looking for sympathy for our area, lets send a bit of it to our folks in Texas. Several days last week they recorded the "hottest temperature in the whole world." We were talking with a former Elba resident on the phone during one of those days and she commented that in Texas it was either boiling hot or hurricanes were beating down on them. She could have added in the occasional snow storms that shut down the whole state of Texas.

Falls puts her heart into serving senior citizens in Elba

by Kailie Caulder,
Auburn University Living
Democracy Program student

Donna Falls, the director of the Elba Senior Citizens Center, is a remarkable individual who embodies the spirit of caregiving and community leadership. Described as charismatic, passionate, and dedicated, she goes above and beyond in her role.

During my visit to the senior center, it became evident that Falls puts her heart into every task she undertakes. From the moment I introduced the Living Democracy Program, attendees of the center were quick to pull me aside, insisting Falls be recognized for her exceptional contributions. She serves in a manner that will leave a lasting impact on the lives of the seniors in the community.

Dorothy Burleson, one of the center's attendees, was particularly vocal in her admiration for Falls.

She states, "Watch Donna. If anyone deserves recognition for giving back to the community, it's her."

Burleson went on to highlight not only Falls' dedication to the center but also her commitment to her own family.

Despite the demanding role of being the primary caregiver for her husband and uncle, Falls never allows it to hinder her commitment to the seniors at the center. Continuously striving to enhance their experience, she tirelessly seeks out new games, organizes events, and identifies opportunities to improve the lives of those in attendance.

Beyond her role at the senior center, Falls actively engages with the broader community. She acts as a catalyst for positive change by collaborating with local organizations and seeking partnerships to provide additional resources for the seniors in her care.

One of the most striking moments from my day at the center was witnessing Falls start-off with a game of bingo, a favorite among the seniors. Though I was able to call out the numbers, I learned that Falls enthusiastically calls out numbers while simultaneously playing cards on behalf of community members with vision impairments.

Falls strives for equal opportunity among the group, allowing individuals to "pass" their bingo to another individual for someone else to receive a prize on their behalf. It is the level of care and attention to detail that sets Falls apart from others.

She does not limit her care and dedication to activities within the senior center. Falls goes above and beyond to ensure that every senior who wants to participate can make it to the center. Recognizing the challenges some individuals face in transportation, a bus service has been arranged to pick up attendees from their homes and safely transport them to the center.

The transportation service is a vital force for the center, ensuring that all seniors can benefit from the programs and activities offered. Not only facilitating a physical journey, the bus also serves as an opportunity for socialization among the seniors.

Trisha Price, another attendee, expressed her admiration for Falls, stating, "She definitely gives back to the community."

Price emphasized the importance of observing Falls' actions and contributions by stating "Watch and pay attention, she does so much for all of us."

Despite the weight of her responsibilities, Falls consistently shows up and creates a nurturing environment for the seniors of the community. Her dedication and unwavering commitment are evident in everything she does. She not only provides a fun and engaging atmosphere but also ensures that each individual feels valued and cared for.

Falls can be seen preparing take-home meals for seniors that would benefit from having easy, nutritional food. Before every meal, she takes time to explain a food group of importance, a vegetable or fruit that has many applications of nutrition.

Falls goes above and beyond to ensure that she knows each individual on a personal level, taking the time to understand their preferences and needs.

This little addition to the Jeep was mostly to help block the sun a bit to keep it from "cooking" Sister and Papa when they ride with Lou Lou. Admittedly, however, Lou Lou has found it to also be beneficial this summer with some awful hot days, especially over the past few weeks.

Last weekend was the first time that Sister and Papa had ridden in Lou 2 since the sunshade was installed.

First, Lou Lou and Sister ventured off Saturday with some friends to go eat lunch at a favorite place in a nearby town. They had been riding for about 10 minutes when Sister said she really did like the new sunshade. She said not only did it help make the ride more bearable as far as the sun goes, but that it also helped block the wind from trying to snatch her cap off her head!

Later in the day, Papa asked Lou Lou to go with him to some of his favorite shopping spots - Lowe's Tractor Supply and Harbor Freight (or as Papa calls it - the boy's toy store). Lou Lou convinced him to also take the ride in the Jeep.

The level of familiarity and attention to detail is remarkable. Her ability to remember the smallest details such as whether or not individuals prefer gravy on their mashed potatoes showcases her commitment to the center.

She creates a ripple effect of positivity and compassion that radiates through the attendees. Embodying the values of empathy and selflessness, she inspires me to give back and make a difference in the lives of those around me.

I am incredibly honored to assist her in bettering the lives of the seniors in the community. Without her presence, the atmosphere at the center would lack the personal touch and heartfelt connections that are essential for the well-being of the seniors.

Donna Falls is an extraordinary caregiver and community leader who has made a profound impact on the lives of those she serves. Her charisma, passion, and unwavering dedication are an inspiration to all who have the privilege of knowing her.

This was probably during the hottest part of the day, and it did not take Papa long to realize the new sunshade was a keeper! As they were traveling down the road, Papa agreed that Lou Lou had made a good purchase when she decided to buy the sunshade.

He was impressed with how well it blocked the sun's rays to help protect the Jeep's riders.

The best part about the new sunshade is that Lou 2's top can be put back on right over the shade without having to remove it when the time comes... then, it is still there the next time the top is removed. Less work makes for a happy Lou Lou!

It was hot enough last Saturday, however, that even with the sunshade, it was scorching inside the Lou 2, especially when sitting still with no wind to help at all. Lou Lou was really impressed that Sister and Papa managed to make the rides without complaining about how miserable it was due to the heat.

Now, that didn't stop Sister from saying she was "worn out" upon return home from her trip because the heat "drained all her energy"... but, she didn't whine at all during the actual trip. Lou Lou is convinced that was just a good excuse for Sister to go take a long Saturday afternoon nap...not that she has ever really needed an excuse to go nap. It is, after all, her favorite hobby!

During Lou Lou and Papa's trip, they discussed the possibility of installing an "add-on air conditioner" to Lou 2 to help with those rudely hot days, and that led to an internet search for Lou Lou the following day. She came across a neat cooler with a/c that other Jeep users had indicated was a good purchase, so, Lou Lou made the purchase too. Now, when it arrives, she hopes it will be yet another good addition to the Jeep that will pleasantly surprise Sister and Papa again next time they go for a ride in Lou 2. Only time will tell, but Lou Lou has her fingers crossed! Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

Troy University is brimming with new students this summer after welcoming its largest freshman class in three years.

From June 12 through July 21, over 1,550 students will take part in IMPACT, the two-day student orientation process that prepares students for life as a Trojan.

Korrie Lynn Williamson, senior director of enrollment services, said the number of new students enrolled was encouraging to her and her staff in the Admissions office. Enrollment is up seven percent since 2021 and nearly five percent from 2022, with room to grow.

Registration for both the Fall semester and Term 1 are now open with the first day of classes set for Aug. 16.

"Being the largest class that we've had in the last few years, it's really encouraging to us because it is a full circle moment," she said. "We're able to see all those recruiting efforts and admissions responsibilities come to a close, but it's an exciting beginning for the students who are starting their Trojan journey."

Held each summer, IMPACT welcomes incoming transfer students, freshmen and their parents to the Troy Campus for a series of informational sessions and a night of fun at Butter and Egg Adventures. During IMPACT, students take their photo for their student ID, attend browse sessions featuring opportunities to get involved around campus, visit academic departments and register for classes.

"We're talking to the student about how they can be successful, what goals they need to be setting. The goal of orientation is to leave TROY knowing what to expect, knowing how to be a successful Trojan and knowing what classes they're going to take," Williamson said. "But of course, there's also a lot of fun."

Amy O'Kelley, a parent to twin daughters who will be attending TROY in the fall, said she and her family had a "wonderful" experience at IMPACT and the student Q&A panel, visiting the nursing school, the browse sessions, eating lunch at the Dining Hall and meeting Troy University Police were all very informative.

"We are very excited for the girls to attend TROY," she said. "From our very first visit all the way through our time at IMPACT, we have been impressed with every interaction we've had. Each person we've met or talked to on the phone has been nice, knowledgeable and helpful and has an obvious love for the University."

As parents of twins, O'Kelley said she and her husband, Reid, were particularly thankful for the scholarship opportunities TROY offers. Their daughters, Allie and Caroline, graduates of Chiles High School in Tallahassee, Fla., are the recipients of a Chancellor's Scholarship and will be on the cheerleading team.

"Both girls received a letter from a faculty member congratulating them on receiving the Chancellor's Scholarship and letting them know about the leadership minor offered at TROY," she said. "The letter was very nice and informative, but it was the personal note that this faculty member took the time to write that made us know they made the right choice."

When choosing a college, O'Kelley said the girls both wanted a school with a good nursing program, smaller class sizes, a variety of organizations and a competitive athletics programs where the students have a lot of school pride.

"When we toured TROY for the first time in September 2022, we found all of these things and more—all on a beautiful and safe campus," she said. "We know some current students and some recent alumni, and they all have only positive things to say about their experience at TROY. While it's hard to send your children off to college, we know they are in good hands and are going to have the best four years!"

Naomi Rainey, an incoming freshman from Crestview, Fla., said TROY's music education and theatre program drew her in, but learning about the rest of the University made her choice an easy one.

"I've wanted to be in Sound of the South since my freshman year of high school, but then I searched into the college a little bit more and I really liked all the majors TROY offers, but theatre and music education got the best of me," she said. "I've had a great time at IMPACT so far, everyone has been very open and very informative."

Camiya Steele from Birmingham, Ala., plans to study political science and said she chose TROY over the University of Alabama because of how welcome she was made to feel.

"The people here have been so open and easy to talk to," she said. "I felt like I really fit in. I've met a ton of new people at IMPACT and it's helped me feel ready to start the semester."

Registration is still open for a freshmen session on July 20-21, and a transfer session on July 12.

For more information, visit the IMPACT website, call 334-670-3179 or email impact@troy.edu.

Veterans & PTSD

It is important to remember the struggle so many veterans face when they return from serving our country. PTSD (post-traumatic stress disorder) is a psychological condition that affects those that have experienced a severe trauma in their lives.

Trauma is not rare and 60% percent of men and 50% of women experience a trauma in their lives. For veterans 11-20% of veterans returning from Operation Iraqi Freedom returned with PTSD and 15% of veterans returning from the Vietnam War returned home with PTSD.

PTSD has a variety of symptoms and behaviors attached to it such as insomnia, nightmares or night terrors, difficulty "leaving war behind", panic during surprise situations (even non-aggressive ones) and fear or panic at the sound of loud noises. PTSD can also manifest as anger, anxiety and sometimes hides underneath addiction to alcohol and other substances.

PTSD is something that affects so many of our veterans and it is our responsibility to take care of those who have served our great nation. Here are some resources that may be beneficial for veterans coping with PTSD and/or the friends and family of those coping with the condition.

WILLIAM JEROME WARD

Mr. William Jerome Ward, age 73, of Elba, Ala., died Thursday, June 29, 2023 at Sacred Heart Hospital in Pensacola, Fla.

Jerome proudly served his country in the United States Navy from 1969 to 1973, and afterwards in the Army National Guard for 29 years.

He and Joan were high school sweethearts for three years marrying in 1969 and would have celebrated 54 happy years together on July 8th. Jerome loved his Lord, his family, more friends than you can count, and a good day of work.

Fire From Heaven
Fire possesses great potential for both productive energy and destructive power. The Chicago fire of 1871 is a classic illustration of the latter. So are the forest fires that annually scorch thousands of acres of land and results in the tragic loss of life and property. On the productive side, fire heats our homes, generates energy for industry, cooks our food, and powers all sorts of engines. It can be either helpful or harmful, but it is nearly always evidence of power. In the scriptures fire is often a symbol of the power of God's spirit. Perhaps the clearest illustration of this is the "tongues like as of fire" that appeared over each of the apostles on the day of Pentecost [Acts 2: 1-4]. The fire that fell in response to Elijah's prayer was unmistakably a demonstration of the power of Israel's true God and it fulfilled two important purposes. The sacrifice and altar that Elijah had prepared were consumed (along with everything surrounding them), but the faith of Israel was renewed and empowered. God's spirit provides "heat" to warm our hearts with love and conviction and "light" (through the words of the scriptures) to guide our paths. The world needs to see such fire as evidence that "the Lord, He is the God." Pray for fires of revival to be poured out on our nation and to the ends of the earth! - R.W.B.

ChocPea rain gauges show more rain first six months of 2023 as compared to 2022

All but two rain gauges in the seven county ChocPea basin show they received more rain in 2023 than in the same six month period last year.

The Elba gauge at Pea River bridge increased from 25 inches to 32 inches while the Big Creek gauge at County Road 87 increased from 26 inches to 30 inches. The Folsom Bridge gauge increased from 21 inches to 25 inches. The Lowery Mill gauge on Whitewater Creek jumped from 25 inches to 31 inches. The Arton gauge on Hwy. 231 also jumped from 26 inches to 30 inches. Enterprise, New Brockton, Geneva and the two gauges in Barber County also showed increases.

Several gauges on the Choctawhatchee and Clay Bank Creek showed even larger jumps with as much as 10 and 12 additional inches over last year.

Troy and the gauge at Shiloh on Hwy 130 actually showed a drop in rainfall for these first six months of 2023.

Little Miss Elba Kayleigh Smith was excited to participate in the lighting ceremony for the new Elba Theatre marquee. The Elba Queens, all dressed in gold, helped "cut the ribbon" during the ribbon cutting ceremony for the new sign. A large crowd was in attendance for the special occasion.

Views From The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

We met the rest of the family for an evening of music and fireworks at Ft. Novosel last week and both the grandsons enjoyed the three-hour outing. Lawson was interested in visiting the various food trucks and finding giveaways from area businesses, while Cannon was just fine crawling on a blanket and playing with anything he could find. It was a little warm, but still a great evening of family fun.

For what it is worth....

 This week will begin the first in a series of previews of the schedules for area football teams, and first on the list are the Elba Tigers. The Tigers rolled to a region title and an 11-1 record last season, and while the schedule will simply be a reversal of last year's slate, it does provide some interesting food for thought for Tiger fans.

Local fans will get a treat to kick off the schedule as Elba will host cross-county rivals New Brockton in week one and Kinston in week two, and while the Tigers own a 14-1 all-time record against the Gamecocks and a perfect 6-0 record against the Bulldogs, anytime county rivals take the field against each other the fans get to talk trash and look to get bragging rights for at least a year. After the opening two games against county rivals, the Tigers will hit the road for four straight games against Houston County, Brantley, Providence Christian and Red Level, which in many cases would spell danger for even the best of teams. Being on the road means loading a bus for a long road trip, packing pads and equipment in a trailer, many times getting dressed in a smaller dressing room, and often times having to adjust to different officiating crews. Life on the road can be tough, and being on the road for four straight weeks can definitely be a challenge. A much-needed home game against a very talented team from Georgiana will break the road trip, followed by the final regular season road test at high-scoring Florala. The final two games of the regular season will be at home against new region rivals Pleasant Home and McKenzie, and while the Tigers have enjoyed success against both teams, anything can happen, especially late in the season due to injuries, which could make both games crucial to their region success.

Elba and Brantley will no doubt be the favorites to finish atop the region standings, followed by Florala and Georgiana. However, Kinston, Red Level and Houston County could all be sleepers, and with a new coach at McKenzie, no one really knows what to expect. One thing that is clear is that the Elba Tigers face a very interesting schedule, and one that I think is much harder than most area football fans may think!

 Now that summer basketball workouts have ended the Elba Lady Tigers are using the court daily as they prepare for the upcoming season. The Elba girls have three teams (junior high, junior varsity and varsity) with over thirty players taking part, which shows an amazing interest in the sport at such a small school. I know they will put in a lot of long hours to get ready and are dedicated to having a winning team.

 The recent Supreme Court ruling that began an era of legal sports betting across the nation gave the states the right to establish their own sports wagering laws, and while it is now legal to bet on all pro and college sporting events, the NFL, NBA, MLB and NHL all adopted rules that banned their players from betting on games involving their own teams, as well as placing bets while at team facilities. Apparently not all of the players understood the rules, since so far this summer three players have been barred indefinitely and a fourth has been benched for six games. The latest suspensions bring the total to six being banned for at least one season and three getting six-game suspensions. The NFL did state it found no evidence of any games being affected by betting, which is legal, but against league policy. As long as sports betting is legal people will bet, just look at the former baseball coach at the University of Alabama. Just another headache for the world of sports!

 In closing.... Major League Baseball announced its starting lineup for the upcoming All-Star game with the Braves and Dodgers both putting three players in the lineup. Over in the American League Texas will have four players in the starting lineup

Elba Tigers face challenging schedule that includes four straight early road battles

For a team that has claimed a total of 7 state championships and 21 region championships, has posted a combined record of 21-3 the past two seasons and was ranked #1 in the state for eight weeks last season in rolling to an 11-1 record, it looks like no schedule could strike fear into its players or fans!

While fear may not be the correct word, Elba Tiger fans are at least leery about the 2023 football schedule that includes two of the first five games against 3A opponents and a third against a 1A power with 4 state titles and 32 region crowns, not to leave out the fact that four of the opening six games will be on the road.

"We certainly have a very challenging schedule again this season and with four of the first six games on the road we will have to be ready early in the season for the adversities that can come with playing on the road," said Elba Tiger head coach Marc Sieving. "We were undefeated in the regular season a year ago, which means we will have a target on our back each and every week, no matter the opponent. We played a 2A opponent and a 5A opponent back in the spring to help us prepare for the summer, and while the schedule will be challenging, it is a challenge we look forward to."

Following is a preview of the 2023 Elba Tiger football schedule

August 25 – New Brockton

The Tigers will kick off the season at home against the 3A New Brockton Gamecocks.
